

Looking for new challenges while being part of a young, creative and inspirational team and on top you want to help making the world a better place? With our vision to not only offer the most sustainable and healthiest but also the most attractive beverage option we have developed a worldwide unique drinking system. What makes air up so special - we have managed to make water taste like apples or orange-passion fruit by only using scent. Completely without artificial additives or sugar and the best: you can even save on plastic bottles as you can refill our bottle everywhere! Join us to establish the market segment of „scent based drinks“ .

We are looking for you to join us at the earliest possible date:

Intern in Product Design

Your responsibilities:

- Collaboration on a wide range of projects along the development path of our products
- You work cross functionally with other product related teams such as Product Design, Content and Online Marketing
- You help develop product improvements in any kind of way
- You will work in your lab and bring ideas to life (prototyping)

That's you:

- You study Product Design, Industrial Design or in a related field
- You have very good knowledge in Solid Works or Rhino
- You love to get your hands dirty in our workshop and have good prototyping skills
- You are a virtuoso in the common Adobe CC programs
- You have a good understanding of brands and an eye for aesthetics
- You think entrepreneurial and show a high degree of initiative
- Fluency in English, German would be a plus
- You have at least 4, ideally 6 months to complete the internship

That's us:

- Highly diverse team with a strong belief in air up with its core values
- Fast paced decision culture with low hierarchies and no politics
- Strong start-up spirit with an entrepreneurial mind set, good working vibe, young & dynamic team willing to change the world - more than a working place – rather a family
- Hypothesis driven working culture willing to test new concepts and great ideas
- We value our junior team members - that's why you enjoy in addition to fair payment, the same benefits as our full time employees such as an Urban Sportsclub membership, regular cook-outs and much more

- As a fast growing start up, we offer good chances to be hired permanently after the internship

Up for new challenges? Take your chance to be part of air up success story! We are looking forward to your application including CV, entry date and portfolio. Please be aware that we can only review complete applications.
